

Antarctic Dad

by Hazel Edwards and Kevin Burgemeestre (Lothian)

The story is about a family with a mum, a boy and a father. The father goes to work in Antarctica. The boy's friends don't believe him at first but he shows them photos.

The illustrations in this book are excellent – bright, big and really bold. I really enjoyed reading Antarctic Dad as my dad has been in East Timor with the Australian Federal Police and I can relate to the boy feeling sad. Children aged 7 to 10 would love this book. Rating: 10/10
